The Democratic Convention.

edal to the Star. BALTIMORE, July 22 .- The Maryland State Democratic Convention assembled at 11 o'clock this morning. Thomas J Keating, Permanent Chairman, called the Convention to order. Gov. Groome is out of the fight and his friends are mainly for Hon. John Lee Carroll, though a few of them are now supporting Hamilton.

The contest is between Mr. Carroll and Hon. Wm. T. Hamilton, present U. S. Senator. The friends of Carroll urge in his tayor that it would be a proper thing for a grandson of the last survivor of the signers of the Declaration of Independence to be Governor of the State on the centennial occasion.

Mr. Hamiiton, whose friends succeeded in securing the adjournment last night, is thought to be rather the stronger this morning, and it is believed if a vote can be had without a general break-up he will be nominated. Discussion is now going on in reference to the adoption of the report on credentials and the admission of the doubtful delegates.

BALTIMORE, July 22 .- There was liv :ly work in the Convention to-day from the commencement, and it was soon discovered that so large a proportion of the covered that so large a proportion of the Groome men had gone to Carroll as to make his nomination a certainty. The vote was finally reached, and resulted, John Lee Carroll's nomination was made unanimous; after which Hon. Levia Woolford, present incumbent, was renominated for comptroller of the Treasure.

SHERIDAN, ILL., July 22.—The citizens of this vicinity have raised a subscription of something over $1,200 as a reward for the arrest and conviction of the murderers of Benedict Sorenson, who was assassinated on Saturday night last, near Norway, in this township. It is also expected that the county will offer a reward of $1,000. The country is thoroughly aroused, and great excitement prevaits. Several persons have been arrested, but we have not yet found the ones who committed the deed.

SALT LAKE, July 22.—The confession of Lee not being satisfactory to the Prosecuting Attorney, Lee was to-day placed on trial under the old and three new indictments. DECATUR, ILL., July 22.—That gold has been found near this city is beyond the question of a doubt; but whether or not it exists in sufficient quantities to pay for mining it, remains for future development. A scientific silversmith has tested the nugget and found that it resisted the strongest acid, and pronounced it pure gold. Captain Mason, an old California miner, gives it as his opinion that gold actually exists in large quantities. The nuggets that have been found and tested were picked up accidentally in a small ravine running through a corn-field after a recent heavy rain.

The general appearance of the earth in the vicinity of the gold region is rough and rocky, and it is known as the Dutch Creek neighborhood about three miles Creek neighborhood about three miles west of Decatur, instead of eight or nine miles north as stated in a previous dispatch. The farm upon which the gold was found belongs to Andrew Kepler, a cigar manufacturer, and it was at first thought by many that it was a ruse in order to effect a sale for his land, but more recent developments sustain the truth of the report that gold actually exists on the premises.

Now, inasmuch as we have no information of a balloon ascension recently in any part of the West except those made from this city last week, the question that naturally suggests itself is whether the mysterious balloon seen by different persons in different locations is not Donaldson's air ship, which ascended from Chicago on Thursday evening. The most unnatural case brought before Judge Linneman this morning, was that of little Alice Stevens, a girl twelve years old. She was brought here by her father, who preferred a charge of incorrigibility against her. On her appearance before the bench, it was at once ascertained that the charge was made merely to get rid of her. She is a hand some little girl, of evident good sensy and education. Her father, from St. Paul, Indiana, did not desire to expend any more money for her tuition, and, therefore, wanted her raised in the Refuge at the city's expense. This was his own statement. The Judge, however, understood the merits of the case, and saw through the brutal intention of the man. He told him to get out, and have a little more of paternal affectior for his child. The greatest indignative as expressed by every one in the room sas expressed by every one in the room at the man's conduct.
